2.5 Evaluation Process and Reforms

2.5.1

Mechanism of internal assessment is transparent and robust in terms of frequency and mode

Response:

The testing system of internal evaluation is robust and transparent. Every month we have test and the marks are told in the class and the students are also told about their weak points. They are told how they can get more marks. Students are free to ask the doubts about the marks. They even have the facility to put their complaints regarding their marks in the complaint box. The marks of these tests are discussed in the meetings of IQAC. This helps in understanding the problem and finding solution. This has helped in decreasing the fear of examination from the minds of the students.

2.5.2

Mechanism to deal with internal/external examination related grievances is transparent, time-bound and efficient

Response:

The process of internal and external examination is very transparent in our college but if ever there is a problem or the students have any sort of doubt the Mechanism to deal with grievances related to internal and external examination is equally transparent in our college. The students are free to put their complaints in the complaint box. In the external examination the students are told to write their complaint and give it to the superintendent of that Examination shift and the superintendent forwards complain to the university. The students are free to talk to the principal. Till date there has never been any delay in this regard

2.6 Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1

Programme and course outcomes for all Programmes offered by the institution are stated and displayed on website and communicated to teachers and students.

Response:

The academic plan of an institution increasingly includes the learning outcomes that apply across the programmes of study. These outcomes provide an academic vision for the institution that serve as guidelines for the new programs and also communicate to its stakeholders the academic value and goals of the institution. Course outcomes express the learning at the level of a paper. In doing so, they clarify for the learner what is expected of him or her as well as the skill, competencies, understanding and ability that they acquire on successful completion of their study. For the teacher, the outcomes clarify what exactly the module will deliver and unite this with the appropriate mode of delivery and assessments. It is important to stress that course outcomes form an integral part of an educational system which is based on student-centric learning, where emphasis moves from content to the outcomes. Effective student participation can be enhanced where the courses are clearly expressed in terms of outcomes which allow the learner to acquaint themselves with the skills and the abilities they acquire. The course outcomes for different course under different programmes have been uploaded on the website.

Attainment of programme outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution.

Response:

It is very necessary to evaluate the program and course outcome and our college leaves no stone unturned in this process. In every IQAC meeting we evaluate the performance and see how far we have been successful in achieving the program and course outcome. Assessment is also important to assess whether the student or learner has attained what is expected out of them. This helps in the improvement of quality.

Course Outcomes can be measured based on the performance of the students in the internal assessment and external examination conducted by the College. Primary evaluation is done by the subject Teacher: The subject teachers through the process of teaching and learning in the class comes to know quite a lot but the formal assessment is done after the completion of a topic, when the teacher conducts tests,
